John Patric (Hobo in Japan) Sees Fascism Here Marching Hand in Hand With Relief Programs, Bureaucracy

BY IRENE ALEXANDER

John Patric of Frying Pan Creek, Florence, Oregon, visited Carmel this past weekend after an absence of about ten years, during which time he has traveled over a large portion of the earth's surface, poking into its out-of-the-way nooks and corners, taking notes and recording with infinite pains what he sees and hears and touches and tastes and smells.

He is the author of numerous articles published in such magazines as the National Geographic, the Christian Science Monitor, and a condensation of his recent book, Why Japan Was Strong, appears in the January issue of the Reader's Digest under the title A Hobo in Japan. He describes himself, in fact, as "an editorial errand boy for the Reader's Digest."

A native of Snohomish, Washington, he decided during his college days that studying for any one of the professions was not for him—that his urge was simply to become well-informed. Reporting is his speciality, and while in his unrelenting search for facts and his presentation of what he has learned, he is singularly devoid of aggression, yet in his own quiet, dogged, level-eyed way he refuses to be turned aside by the usual obstacles that stand between one and stark reality.

While for the most part, as one gathers from reading Mr. Patric's latest book and in talking with him, his approach is objective and scientifically inductive, he is not free from certain theories in the realm of economics and government which he consciously or unconsciously uses as hypotheses. He is a foe of regimentation and the ardent advocate of everything which preserves for the individual the right to be ingenious and resourceful. He feels that the kind of society which produced on this continent the greatest nation the world has ever known sprang from the accomplishments of free individuals and views with deep concern what he believes is the growth of fascism here during the past twelve years, a movement which his years of travel and study in Hungary, Czechoslovakia and Italy convinced him is paralleled by the economic planning, the various relief programs and the gradual encroachment of bureaucracy in the latter country following Il Duce's march on Rome.

Mr. Patric's explorations in his native land have taken him into every state of the union, not as a tourist, but often on foot and always "working his way" by one of the many odd jobs he learned to do as a small boy in a country town.

It was as a tramp printer that he migrated to Carmel ten years ago, spending his spare hours as he did again over this past weekend, engaging in provocative conversations with all he met. In his opinion Carmel's Steve Patterson "knows more of the world and its economic problems than most university professors."

His especial delight is in finding examples of human ingenuity and reporting them. An article, (Continued on Page 4)

WOE ON R.F.D. NO. 1

There's a new man trying to learn Rural Free Delivery Rt. No. 1, Postmaster Fred Bechdolt says, and that's why so many of the R.F.D. No. 1 subscribers failed to get their Pine Cone-Cymbal last week, or got it later than usual. Some phoned in to the Pine Cone office asking, "Why didn't I get my paper?" Others, guessing where the trouble lay, called the post office. Still others didn't call anybody but philosophically dropped into the Pine Cone office to pick up a copy of the paper which we were glad to give them.

The trouble should be cleared up by now, but if it isn't, Postmaster Bechdolt asks that the R.F.D. No. 1 inhabitants bear up in patience for the post office is faced with the same problem that haunts business and industry throughout the land—manpower shortage.

League Discusses Foreign Relief, Aviation and Oil

Three problems confronting this country were discussed at the Foreign Policy Study Group of the League of Women Voters at the meeting at the home of Mrs. L. O. Kellogg on Wednesday afternoon, with a score of members present and Mrs. Howard Clark as chairman. Organization and plans of the U.N.R.R.A. for relief in devastated countries reconquered from the nazis were explained by Mrs. Blanchard Steeves.

The U.N.R.R.A., which includes representatives of 44 nations, with former Governor Herbert Lehman as director, aims to end starvation and suffering in the countries, but especially to enable peoples to help themselves by rebuilding industries and agriculture as soon as possible, Mrs. Steeves explained. Each country in the organization is asked to contribute for this work one per cent of the government's income for 1942-43, making around two and one half billion dollars in all. The U. S. share of this huge sum is no more than one and one half billion dollars, or about half of what the country gave for relief after the first World War. This is by no means so great a sum as some persons have feared, and the rapid reorganization of employment among the poverty stricken peoples will benefit the entire world, (Continued on page 4)

H. Godwin Picks Bond Drive Corps

At five-thirty tonight Harrison Godwin will assemble his committee at the Pine Inn to plan strategy for the sale of $410,000 worth of war bonds, Carmel's quota for the Fourth War Loan Drive.

Present to speak to the committee will be S. F. B. Morse and Charles Berkey. Morse, Peninsula, chairman, will discuss details of the drive, while Berkey, president of the Bank of Carmel will explain war bonds' place in finance.

The committee announced yesterday by Godwin consists in: Mayor P. A. McCreery, Fred Godwin, Ken Carleton, Paul Mercurio, Kathleen Prewett, Adolph Lafrenz, Mrs. Joseph Stilwell, Mrs. Helen Clark Cranston, Richard Hebb, Mrs. Robert Stanton, Frank Shea, Sidney Trevett and Stuart Hal-dorn.

Already $58,825 worth of Fourth War Loan bonds have been sold here giving Carmel a start in the drive, Godwin said. In each of the previous drives, Carmel reached its quota.

Micaela Martinez Saves Girl From Carmel Undertow

The treacherous undertow which makes Carmel Beach unsafe for bathers came within a narrow margin of claiming a new victim late Wednesday afternoon in Miss Elizabeth Davis, 23, of Wilmington, Delaware, who with her mother, Mrs. Ann Davis, has for the past two months been occupying the Donald Lewis home on Carmel Point.

According to the eye-witness report of another Carmel Point resident who was strolling at five p.m. above the beach near the river mouth, Miss Davis, clad in a bathing suit, stepped into the surf and was immediately caught by the strong undertow. She battled her way out from under one mountainous wave only to be caught under a second and larger wall of the incoming tide, which apparently left her exhausted.

At this point, Miss Micaela Martinez, who was on the beach with her mother, Mrs. Elsie Martinez and Miss Harriet Dean, went to the rescue. Though fully clothed, and not herself an accomplished swimmer, she plunged into the surf and succeeded in grasping Miss Davis, only to be engulfed in the succeeding waves, which twice tore the girl from her hold. It was through the team-work of Mrs. Martinez and Miss Dean, who formed a chain to aid her that Miss Davis was finally pulled from the water.

Making use of coats, towels, a hastily furnished hot water bottle and the skill which they have been acquiring in these months of Red Cross First Aid study, Mrs. Martinez and Miss Dean gave emergency care while Miss Martinez summoned the ambulance. So prompt was the response of Fred Mylar and his crew that within ten minutes Miss Davis was safely at home, where she is now recovering satisfactorily from the effects of her experience.

Taxes Now?

The school trustees have reached a point in their plans for post war construction where they have to consider the chilling question: where is the money coming from? The matter first arose at the regular monthly board meeting last week. The members discussed two possibilities. They could raise the tax rate this spring to build up a fund in advance that would be available when construction is again possible after the war, or they could wait until the whistle blows and the cement mixer starts turning, and then take a chance on floating a bond issue.

Argument for the latter improvident manner of doing business is the proposition that haunts all elective officials, that the voter inevitably hates them when they raise his taxes, so why not put off the evil day as long as possible?

In favor of Taxes Now are a number of considerations, one of which Board Member Peter Ferrante urged upon his fellow members at last week's meeting. If, pointed out Mr. Ferrante, the government proposes to share the cost of post war construction in various communities, money will probably be available on a matching basis, and the beforehand communities who can say, "We have our plans drawn up, our share of the money in hand," are likely to receive their allotments of federal money first. This argument had weight with the other board members in whom still lives the memory of how, when construction finally began several years ago on Carmel high school, the expected federal funds were not forthcoming because by then the government had stopped giving out. Visibly impressed by the desirability of being prepared, the school board went home to think it over until next meeting.

Another cogent argument in favor of Taxes Now that will probably occur to the board members during their period of meditation is that in the struggle against inflation, the government is asking its citizens to: 1. Buy War Bonds. 2. Pay taxes cheerfully. Loose money drawn off into taxes and earmarked for a building fund to be used at a time when (Continued on page 3)

ART AND TOLERANCE

A review of the oil show that has just gone on exhibit at the Carmel Gallery appears on the feature page of this issue. It is written by Patricia Cunningham, Carmel artist and teacher.

Also on the feature page is an account of a panel discussion on the Negro problem conducted by members of the local branch of the American University Women's Club. The report, by L. L. T., frequent Pine Cone-Cymbal contributor, not only covers the present economic and social conflicts between the Negroes and Whites, but traces back the development of antagonism to White repressions of the Negro through our American history.

Civic Groups Asked To Aid Youth Club

Other organizations and civic groups will be asked to join with the Carmel Parent-Teachers Association to assist in establishing a recreation club for teen age boys and girls. At a directors' meeting of the P.T.A. Wednesday morning at Sunset, Mrs. Robert Stanton, president, directed Mrs. Howard Monroe, chairman of the committee in charge of the club room project to invite each of the organizations and groups in town to send a representative to a meeting to be called as soon as possible to discuss ways and means.

Mayor P. A. McCreery, Chief of Police Roy Frates, and Councilman Fred Godwin will be present to speak for the city. Carmel Women's Club, the American Legion, Legion Auxiliary, Business Association, Lions Club, University Women and League of Women Voters are among the organizations who will be asked to send representatives.

"Proper recreational facilities for our young people is not a problem for any one group, it is a matter of concern to the entire community," Mrs. Stanton said in announcing the P.T.A. decision to ask for town-wide cooperation.

Foreign Affairs Expert Forum Speaker Tuesday

Discussing the question, Need the World Fear Soviet Russia? Dr. Hubert Phillips, Professor of History at Fresno State College, opens the first meeting of the Carmel Forum next Tuesday evening, January 25, at Sunset auditorium.

Dr. Phillips has spent much time in Europe and the Orient, and has been on the faculty of colleges in Austria and Japan. He is widely known as a Forum leader. He has served on the staff of the famous Des Moines Forum, has been a director of the Federal Forum Project, and appeared on forum programs in California, Oregon, and Washington. He has also been guest speaker for the Commonwealth Club of California every season since 1933, and a frequent contributor to The Nation and Survey Graphic.

Registration for the series of eight meetings, for which the fee is one dollar, may be made by mail, by telephone, or at the box office on the night of the first meeting.

Larson, Fesshauer In Joint Recital For M.A.C. Concert

The first concert of the new year presented by the Musical Art Club will be held on Sunday afternoon, January 30, in the Carmel high school Music Room.

Vivian Larson, pianist, a gifted artist-pupil of Frank Wickman, and Carl Fesshauer, cellist, are appearing in joint recital.

Mr. Fesshauer, a pupil of both Emil Feuermann and Gregor Piatigorsky, has concertized in the East, and played with the N.B.C. Orchestra in Chicago. He will be accompanied by Jaffery Harris.

YOU KNOW that this year may bring great victories—if every American, civilian as well as soldier, stands loyally at his or her post. And, whatever else your duties may call for, there is one job that concerns every citizen—that concerns you: That is to help make 1944 one of the decisive years of human history. So make whatever sacrifice may be necessary to help make the 4th War Loan Drive the success it must be if we are to realize our great objectives this year.

Ask yourself honestly—how much of a sacrifice is it to give up some luxury just temporarily in order to buy the best investments in the world? When you've answered that question, buy at least one extra $100 Bond now—at your office or plant, if possible. And if you've already bought, buy again this month—and keep 'em!

This sticker in your window means you have bought 4th War Loan securities.

Matthew Beaton Is Appointed to Vets' Home Board

Official notification was received by Matthew Beaton last week of his appointment by Gov. Earl Warren to membership on the Board of the Veterans' Home at Yountville, California.

Mr. Beaton, a prominent Monterey business man and secretary of the Monterey Chamber of Commerce, established his family home many years ago in Carmel, on Junipero and Ninth streets. A veteran of World War I, when he served as captain and personnel adjutant of the Second Division with the U. S. Army of Occupation in Germany, Mr. Beaton enters upon his new appointment with a background of valuable experience.

He is a graduate of the University of California and served for several years on the Veterans' Welfare Board. He is Past Department Commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, department of California, having completed his term of office in June, 1943. During the end of September and the first of October, he was in New York attending the national convention of the American Legion.

Mr. Beaton leaves for San Francisco over this week end to attend the first meeting of the Veterans' Home Board, to be held there on Saturday afternoon.

Variety of Talent For Barn Door Show

There were new slides to sing with at the Carmel USO Barn Door Canteen last week, but the service men still call for a repeat of that old one, "Pistol Packin' Mama."

If you haven't seen one of these shows, then you owe it to yourself to telephone Carmel 72 and reserve one of the seven seats they use for civilians. The door fee is only two dozen fresh doughnuts. Show starts at 8:30 p.m. each Saturday. Last week the Angels were: Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Morehouse and daughter, Alice, Mrs. W. H. Morehouse, Mrs. A. W. Radford, Mrs. C. A. Mitchell and Col. J. A. Pongonis special service officer who has recently returned to Carmel.

Hazel Dale, assistant director and Ruth Cooke, opened the show. Mrs. Royden Martin and Gordon Ayers did two numbers of 1890 vintage. Apparently the type of entertainment service men need, as it made them roar with laughter. Gladys Young sang three favorites for the boys. Marjorie West, lovely wife of Capt. Jack West, gave a number from Dorothy Parker's book, "The Waltz," at the piano for Mrs. West was Ens. Al Masyk, U. S. Navy.

Bayne Wilson followed with two Hill Billy numbers, accompanying himself on the guitar, offering "I Was Born Ten Thousand Years Ago" and "Oh Listen to My Tale of Woe."

Diana Ayers, dressed in a lovely pale light green formal, with pearl clusters at the side of the neck, did one of her own compositions, "You Little Pirate—You!" A legend or fable of the High Sierra peaks. Diana Ayers is not only a product of Hollywood, but also has some real western ranch life background; her family own and run the famous Sun Valley Ranch in Colorado, and so she did "Gol darn wheel."

Carlos Diegos, accompanied on the guitar by Bayne Wilson, sang three Spanish songs. "The Four Clovers" four "G. I.'s" from the 4th Army personnel performed, a quartet par excellent, every man singing in his own manner and all fitting in to make a grand quartet, each so sure of himself that any of the three could have walked out and the one left would have gone right on. Pfc. Bob Swanson was at the piano and the other three were Jack McIlroy, Bill Smith and Nick Dimistre.

Miss K. Helen McKinstry had the following hostesses helping: Mrs. Dorothy Leary, Mrs. Joseph McEldowney, Miss Peggy Chamberlin, Mrs. Ivy Rodgers, Mrs. C. Sloan, Mrs. Andrew Del Monte, and Mrs. Charles Watson.

Red Cross

By HELEN A. FIELD

The Annual Meeting of the Carmel Chapter of the American Red Cross will be held in the Church of the Wayfarer on Wednesday, January 26th at three o'clock. There will be reports by the chairmen of the various units on the work of the past year as well as elections of members of the Board of Governors and officers for the coming year.

Members of the Red Cross, do you know what your own chapter is doing to further the work of this far-reaching, humanitarian organization? Are you aware of the effective activities at Chapter Headquarters here and at the Station Hospital at Fort Ord? The meeting to be held on the 26th provides an opportunity for all members who would know about these activities to find out what has been accomplished during 1943 by the many volunteers who have given their time and energy to this work. To know is to be proud of what has already been done and to resolve anew to support by word and action this most indispensable help for those in great need on both the war front and the home front.

Editorials...

(Continued from page 1) money won't be so free and easy accomplishes a three-fold purpose. It assists in checking inflation at present, and put in circulation when it is needed, it will aid in stabilizing post war economy. Also the tax payer benefits directly through paying for future improvements at this time with cheap money rather than waiting to pay for them when the dollar again reaches its full value, for though no one's dollar is worth 100 cents when it goes to market now, it is worth 100 cents when it pays taxes. Added to this canny consideration is the fact that tax payers can't buy many of the things they want so will not find placing some of their surplus dollars in taxes so painful as it would be later when their eyes are dazzled and their hearts yearn for new electric refrigerators, silk stockings, automobiles and air cooling systems over the kitchen stove.

In any case the taxes will have to be paid, either less painfully in advance, or later, when money is worth more and harder to get, because the work has to be done. In calling it post war planning, the school board has dressed it up in frills to give the tax payers a little more for their money. Actually, the post war plan consists in: 1. Repair and upkeep operations that normally would have been going on from day to day but through lack of materials and men have piled up into a considerable item. 2. Completion of units at the high school that appeared in the original plans but were postponed because of lack of funds, units the lack of which is felt acutely. 3. Expansion of facilities at Sunset which is overcrowded to the exhaustion point.

It is the guess of this department that the school board will decide for Taxes Now and take its chances with the wrath of the voters. We have sat in at their meetings over a period of two years and found them consistently conscientious in their approach to their problems and wise in their decisions.

Kuster to Produce "Junior Miss" for Mid-Winter Play

Casting and choosing a staff for the famous comedy of youth, "Junior Miss," will begin early next week, according to Edward Kuster, director at the Playhouse, which has not offered stage fare for several months. The new play, produced by the commercial stage with immense success, recently played for several weeks to packed houses at the Geary Theatre in San Francisco. Some twenty people are required, outside of the technical staff, of all ages and both sexes. Mr. Kuster announces that while previous acting experience is desirable it is by no means necessary. Interviews may be arranged by telephoning him at 403, the Playhouse.

John Patric Sees Fascism Here with Relief Programs

Enterprise and Old Iron, published first in the Christian Science Monitor and later reprinted in the Reader's Digest was inspired by an itinerant farmer who migrated with his family of six to Jackson's Hole, Wyoming. Unable to read or write, but possessed of sturdy enterprise and an uncanny facility in "figgerin'," he proposed to build for a local farmer at a cost of $1200, a bridge across the Snake River Canyon connecting the latter's isolated shelf of farmland to the highway, since the county refused to undertake what it figured would be too costly a project at this point. With the aid of two hitch-hikers and his eleven-year-old boy, he built of scrap iron and cable salvaged from the oil fields, a solid structure, still in-use, Mr. Patric points out, long after the Tacoma Narrows Bridge, one of the PWA projects, fell into the river.

Why Japan Was Strong is a clear, direct factual recording of an eight-months' trip through Japan, Korea and up into Manchuria made by Mr. Patric between the time the Japanese began to move into Indo-China and their attack on Pearl Harbor. This was no deluxe tour, but made with his belongings tied in a large silk handkerchief known as a furoshiki, traveling as the Japanese themselves did, stopping overnight in the native yadoyas instead of in the hostels provided for European travelers. His object was to learn as much as possible first hand about what he considers our strongest and bitterest foe, and to demonstrate how the Japanese got that way, chiefly through industry, frugality and the shrewd hate propaganda of the ruling militarists. One of his most significant chapters records a visit to a Japanese fair and a study of the army and navy exhibit there shown, with posters depicting a curiously Clark Gable type of Japanese performing with nobility and compassion toward his foe (a toothy replica of our own representations of our adversary) and always the victim of treacherous knife-thrusts in the rear. His journeys through Korea led him to draw a dark picture of what would happen to subject peoples in a Japanese dominated Asia, the result of a racial trait of sadistic cruelty toward inferiors.

He had an opportunity to watch the first courting of the Japanese by Nazi agents, and to study the attitude of the American-born Japanese toward his own race, drawing conclusions at wide variance from most popular conceptions of their loyalty. Mr. Patric's theme throughout is his conviction "that by understanding our enemies and by knowing what they think they are fighting for, we can win more quickly and make in the end a more just and lasting peace." He has given thought, too, to the pattern of that peace, in which the Japanese level should be brought nearer to our own economically.

"I think," he states, "this could be and should be accomplished at the war's end, partly by completely disarming Japan and diverting all her accustomed military expenses to the ways of peace. But to make it effective would require a large measure of free trade with the rest of the world, made possible by a man as resolute as Cordell Hull, despite the opposition that will be both inevitable and bitter in the United States."

In Why Japan Was Strong, John Patric has written a definitely thought-provoking book — one which it is impossible for the reader to put down until he has reached the end. Significantly, the best of all the many favorable reviews it has received during the time it has run into a fifth edition was accorded it by the American owned Shanghai Evening Post, now published in this country by a skeleton staff in exile, men who through long acquaintance with Japan are in a position to weigh the truth of what the author here she said.

Miss Agnes Williston reported on the oil supply under control of the United Nations and the future opportunity for development in this field. An article in the current Harper's magazine was the basis for discussion. This country is not furnishing as much oil to the war effort as some critics have feared and prospects for the future are far from gloomy.

Mrs. Ritter Holman reported on world-wide aviation, which just now is in a confused state. Articles from the Atlantic Monthly furnished information on the situation, but the nation's policy is not as yet determined, with some groups favoring a government support for a single airline company, and other groups demanding reasonable competition among several companies. Policy in the matter may not crystalize until the war ends, Mrs. Holman said, but it is important for the citizens to be informed and keep abreast of developments in these fields of foreign policy.

Myrtle Seifert

Mrs. Myrtle Elston Seifert, 52, died at her home on Santa Lucia and Mission on Saturday, January 15, following a long illness.

A native of New Brunswick, New Jersey, Mrs. Seifert and her husband, Mr. Edward M. Seifert and their son, Edward A., came to Carmel from Los Angeles in May, 1936, living for two years in the Field house at Carmel Point, and then establishing a home on Santa Lucia. Active throughout her life in decorative arts, Mrs. Seifert was only prevented by illness from affiliating herself with the Carmel Art association. For many years she maintained a studio of interior decoration in Spokane, Washington, before engaging in decoration in Los Angeles. In New York, she was associated with Carl Freund and the decoration of such show-places as the H. P. Davison home on Long Island and the boudoir of Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney's luxurious yacht were her handiwork.

She is survived by her husband, Mr. Edward M. Seifert, and her son, Edward A. Seifert, both of Carmel.

Another Country Heard From On Prof. Lloyd's Book

Professor F. O. Bower, Fellow of the Royal Society and Professor Emeritus of Botany, Glasgow University, Scotland, has taken his pen in hand to comment enthusiastically upon Carnivorous Plants, the recently published work of Carmel's Professor Francis E. Lloyd.

"I must say," he states, "that the editor and author seem to have struck a happy compromise between the latter's aspirations and the final production in presenting in text and in illustration such a volume of fact as it contains. The result is a well rounded-off statement on a limited field so complete as to leave to those who may follow little to add, except in the form of occasional additions of fact or illustration, or of criticism or suggestion as to the text. I think there are few botanists who can feel that they have approached finality as nearly as Professor Lloyd has, in a limited field. I think that the editor will also feel real satisfaction in the volume as a well-rounded thesis, using the word in the academic sense."

A copy of the Pine Cone-Cymbal containing an article by Professor Lloyd on termites also found its way into the study of Professor Bower, and while its style in the manner of Don Marquis puzzled the learned Scotsman at first, until he had identified it as the language of all British legal documents, without punctuation, he ended by exclaiming, "Bravo cockroach! I wish he had been in my bungalow at Peradeniya in 1885, when I left it for a fortnight and came back to find the tell-tale galleries, and every cork in my tubes and bottles apparently intact, but eaten out hollow as thin paper!"

NEW MARTINEZ MURALS

Miss Micaela Martinez has been commissioned to paint the mural decoration for the altar of the new Monterey Naval Air Base chapel, construction of which is under the supervision of Commander Thomas H. Chapman. Both her time and her materials will be donated by the young artist, who has already achieved wide recognition in the field of ecclesiastical painting.

California Poets Invited to Enter Redlands Contest

California poets are invited to enter the $175 competition for the 1944 Browning Award by Dr. L. E. Nelson of the University of Redlands. Entry date closes March.

"Please don't go in for fancy wrappings, author's photographs, or water-color paintings. We want poetry, not packaging," Dr. Nelson warned. "Postmen are busy, so use ordinary mail and forego the thrill of airmail, special delivery and registered letters."

Contestants are limited to one poem, any length, form and subject. Winning poems will be read

Francis Holman

Funeral services were held on Monday at the Dorney Funeral Home in Monterey for Francis Chapin Holman, who died on Sunday, January 16, at the age of 87, in his home on Carmelo and Tenth streets following a brief illness.

A native of San Francisco, Mr. Holman had been a resident of Carmel for the past seventeen years.

He is survived by three nieces: Mrs. Victor Enbersby, Mrs. J. Crist and Mrs. Eric Horner, all of Oakland, and a nephew, Mr. Sidney Holman of Sacramento.

A.A.U.W. DISCUSS RACE PROBLEM

BY L. L. T.

The particular racial problem of immediate concern to the United States was the subject of a panel discussion conducted by Mrs. John Gratiot at the meeting of the American Association of University Women at the home of Mrs. Thomas Hearn in the Monterey Presidio on Tuesday evening. A considerable number of Carmel members attended. Assisting with the discussion were Mrs. Dwight Morrow, Jr., Mrs. Clay Orear, Mrs. Vesper O. Ward, and Mrs. William E. Dent.

Mrs. Gratiot outlined the history of the Negroes under slavery in this country, explaining conditions which led to the tensions and difficulties of the present. Negroes are fighting in this war for a "double V," victory at home as well as abroad, she said. Critics of the U. S. say it is not true democracy, with racial discrimination present in all activities, and they question whether we are really fighting for freedom of all peoples. The problem is no longer a sectional one, as near 1,000,000 Negroes have migrated from the South in recent years, and the country is trying to become a really united democracy.

Mrs. Morrow discussed the Negroes' share in citizenship, freedom of religion, of speech, and in the press. They were given citizenship in 1868, with voting rights in 1870, but this was largely circumvented in southern states by the poll tax and manipulated literary tests. In one case more recently, a Harvard graduate, Negro, was not passed as literate by the White judge administering the test. Many times the black citizens have been thrown into jail with "no charge against them, and refused the right to see a lawyer or telephone friends, she reported. Yet even in the South the attitude of White people toward them is changing for the better.

Mrs. Orear explained the educational discrimination, with schools for Negroes having far lower financial support than those for White children. In the decade 1920-30 only one-tenth as much per pupil was expended for Negro children as for White. The South is financially the poorest section of the country, and as education is in the hands of the states, this condition can hardly be improved without federal aid for education. The Rosenwald Foundation, the Peabody Fund, and various church boards have done much for Negro education, the churches especially for high school and college students.

Mrs. Ward presented the case of the Negroes in industry, where discrimination has been rife, on the part of unions as well as of management. Although the war industries have needed their labor, they have met many difficulties, with many industries and more than half of individual jobs closed to them. Unions which have admitted them, took them much as step-children, she said, and even the President's directive against discrimination has not always opened the way to employment. Added to this is the bad housing situation, with the worst slums often the only places open to them. While fair-minded employers and officials are trying to improve conditions, progress is slow.

Mrs. Dent told of Negroes in the armed services, where usually they have been segregated, under charge of White officers, or have individually somewhat menial assignments in units of White soldiers. While there is a growing number of colored officers commanding their own troops, the number holding high office is small. Under such conditions the men tend to question "whether it is worth it," although they have fought well in this as well as in all past wars in our country.

Mrs. Gratiot offered the conclusion that the problem requires factual and fair-minded study, the elimination of prejudice and emotional bias, and objective treatment by all citizens. Con-

POETRY

SEA AT CARMEL

Quicksilver waters spread your sheen on me
And I will blot it as the sand your wave!
Oh thunder-surf, beat out your symphony
In deep crescendo—I will be your slave
And answer when you call, your distant calm
Belies your tumult-depths—so is my heart—
Your spray, appoggios that bring a balm—
Oh Sea, I find in you my counterpart!
Cool froth-white green, anoint my sand-held feet
With that pure unguent you alone can blend.
Where beryl depths and shallow azure meet
There lies my goal—a path that has no end!

—DOROTHY LOOSLEY

AT NIGHT

Dark Time moves toward morning: the inevitable hum of cars far below, fleeing through the canyon,
Through the north night . . .
(What exodus leads us to Peace?)

My two candles burn like spear-faced spirits:
They answer the dark with bright silence; above the roof,
Above the dark tumult of earth, forever the stars
Move to the singing of God . . .

The rumble of hundreds of wheels rushing through funneled night, breaks like a dull surf—
(Where are we going?)

Well, I prefer to be here,
Listening to near tree-frogs; loving brief candles,
Ecstatically hearing the stars move on winds of singing:
(I have found this goal without progress.)

—WILLIS EBERMAN

THE ARROW

Elizabeth read to me as I dressed,
From the book Cock Robin held to her breast.
Elizabeth's six and her clear, sweet words
Flew along like bold, bright birds:
'And will you have her, Robin,
To be your wedded wife?'
'Yes, I will,' says Robin,
'And love her all my life!'
'And will you have him, Jenny,
Your husband now to be?'
'Yes, I will,' says Jenny,
'And love him heartily!'
Elizabeth's voice grew suddenly narrow,
"I know how this ends," she said,—the arrow!"

REVIEWS

NEW SHOW WIDE IN SCOPE

BY PATRICIA CUNNINGHAM

The Carmel Art Association Gallery has opened its doors this month on two new exhibitions. There is the M. DeNeale Morgan one-man show in the south gallery which was written up in the Pine Cone last week, and the art association oil show in the north gallery. Probably the biggest treat the last has to offer are the two very small O'Shea paintings in the entrance hall. These are so pleasing that it is hard to view the rest of the exhibit without being nagged by the desire to get back to them.

For generations critics have been trying to define just what makes a work of art. Their efforts have missed fire to the extent that they are mainly famous for their capacity to disagree with one another. But you can't blame them. They try to express in words what can only be really known through a direct visual experience. However, the scientist uses words in describing psychological data, and does all right, so it could be that the art critic's mistake has been to use the language of literature instead of a more precise use of words. It would be a great boon to artist as well as layman if the critic would take a tip from the scientist and clear up our present day confusion on the whole subject of modern painting in a clean and direct way.

The delightful O'Sheas have the character convincingly and conclusively of being works of art, tiny as they are. Painted with bravura, emotionally expressive and appropriately framed, they are integrated and complete. There is no block to their aesthetic appeal. One is the head of a Spanish grande, the other a crucifixion. They bring out a point that is too often neglected, that is, how important the framing of a painting can be. It may either conform or destroy the intrinsic value of the painting. Not every artist can get beautifully designed antique frames, but a well done modern job can be just as complimentary to a painting. The theory is often posed that a perfect composition needs no frame but there are so few painters of this degree of mastery that it is not a point to consider seriously until the quality of painting in general is immensely improved.

The variations in style and mood among the works hung have been juggled into a presentable exhibition. The techniques of the impressionists, the French academy and the School of Munich are in evidence. There are also a number with a more contemporary flavor. Among the latter are the Albro, the Doolittle, the Trues, and those of Henrietta Shore. Florence True and Marjorie Doolittle have made experiments in special design that are most interesting to compare since the same models have been used by both of them. Here the layman can get an idea of how the same subject can be interpreted in many different ways.

Maxine Albro does a pin-up girl with her usual decorative flair and whimsical fantasy. Henrietta Shore's calla lilies and her portrait are also predominately decorative but her intellectual manipulation of the plastic elements is strongly classic in mood. You can always say of her paintings that they have form in that every part of her picture plane is working with every other part to produce the organized spacial entirety. A painting that does not do this is one in which the observer perceives and grasps the significance of certain areas only. The other sections of the picture might just as well not be there for all the bearing they have on the meaning of the whole. This is bad as is a lack of organization in any field of endeavor. The chaotic and the inconclusive are highly unpleasant subconsciously if not consciously.

It would not be fair to pick out particular paintings here that illustrate this principle since few paintings anywhere actually achieve plastic

Churches . . .

ALL SAINTS' CHURCH

Next Sunday at 8:00 a.m. the Service of the Holy Communion. At 9:30 a.m. the Church School with a special presentation of moving pictures of Bird Life and Lore by Mrs. Dorothy Sheldon, member of the teaching staff of the University of California. At 11:00 a.m. the Service of Morning Prayer with Sermon Message by the Rector, Rev. C. J. Hulsewe. Offertory Anthem: "Christ of All My Hopes the Ground"—Ralph Wardlaw, 1817. The full Vested Choir will participate in this service. Children can be left during this service in care of a trained nurse in the old Rectory south of the church from 10:45 on. This possibility is being increasingly made use of by parents of young children.

Tuesday, January 25, Day of the Conversion of St. Paul, 10:30 a.m. Holy Communion. At 1:00 p.m. on January 25 the Choir Mothers' association will meet for its quarterly luncheon and business meeting at the home of Mrs. H. D. Lyon. Visitors to Carmel are especially invited to come and worship in this House of Prayer for All People.

CHURCH OF THE WAYFARER

"Christ Confronts Chaos" will be the sermon-theme of Dr. James E. Crowther next Sunday morning at the Church of the Wayfarer. Margaret Sherman Lea will play a group of Bach compositions as follows: "Be Thou But Near"; "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring"; "Arioso"; and "Little G-Minor Prelude." The Church School begins at 9:45; the Church Service at eleven. Visitors are cordially invited.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCH

"Truth" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon Sunday, January 23, in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts. The Golden Text will be: "Ascribe ye greatness unto our God. He is the Rock, his work is perfect: for all his ways are judgment: a God of truth and without iniquity, just and right is he," (Deut. 32: 3, 4).

Other Bible citations will include: "Shew me thy ways, O Lord; teach me thy paths. Lead me in thy truth, and teach me: for thou art the God of my salvation; on thee do I wait all the day," (Ps. 25: 4, 5).

The Lesson-Sermon will also include the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "This is 'the beauty of holiness,' that when Truth heals the sick, it casts out evils, and when Truth casts out the evil called disease, it heals the sick," (p. 135).

SUNSET SCHOOL NOTES

A Talk About China

Mr. Gorman came to our room to talk about China. He talked about our map of China. He wrote words and numbers in Chinese.

—Luis Jaramillo, grade 3

Walk to Monterey

Last Sunday, Jean Hallett and I walked to Monterey and back. My brother is a fireman there and he gave us each a nickel for popcorn. Then we came home.

I didn't go to school Monday because I was too tired.

—La Rene McEntire, grade 5

Sea Gulls

The sea gulls that fly with their white flappy wings
Remind me of —Oh, just beautiful things.

They look all around with their sharp black eyes
And listen for the sad ocean's cries.

—Carol Forsberg, grade 5

Babette De Moe

Babette is my sister. She is a girl pilot. We are very proud of her. She is flying a twin motor bomber. She is a WASP.

—Jeff Poklen, grade 3

I Heard a Ship

I heard a ship in the night
Far, far away from sight
It is out where all the fishes are Away from everything near and far.

It is off in the seaweed deep
When you and I are fast asleep.

—Robert Drew, grade 5

When I sit upstairs by the window, I can see the sea. Sometimes I can see two or three boats go by. Then around five o'clock I can see the sun go slowly down into the water.

—Schatzi Herron, grade 5

Result of Election

Sunset school elected its new Student Body officers last week. The President is Bob Burgess; Vice-president, Earl Wight; Secretary Mary Lodmell and Business Manager, Erik Short. These officers will take over at our next meeting.

—Margaret Stark, grade 7

A Strange Visitor

One day when I was sitting in our cottage, I saw a little baby gopher pop out of a crack in the sidewalk. He looked at me with big eyes. I got up and he disappeared down the crack again. I put some bread by the crack. In the afternoon it was gone. Every morning for about a week I put some bread by the crack. Every afternoon it was gone. One day I left the door open when I went to get some bread and the little gopher followed me into the kitchen.

That was my strange visitor.

—Nancy Tyrrell, grade 6

News Item

Last week I brought three hand-made linen towels to school. My great-grandmother made them when she was a girl in Sweden. She not only grew the flax but made it into thread and then wove the thread into cloth. On two of them she embroidered her initials in red thread. One had never been used and it felt rough. Another had been used a few times and the third which was at least one hundred years old was smooth and white.

—Louise Harber, grade 7

The sea has many plants growing on its floor. They look like little trees blowing in the wind. The sea is very beautiful.

—Lynne Eldridge, grade 5

My Sister

My sister plays in a play pen. I fed her her bottle Saturday and Sunday. It is fun to feed her.

—Nancie Veit, grade 3

My First Christmas Aboard a Ship

On our way to America from the Philippines, we met seven gales. On Christmas Eve, according to the captain of the ship, we had the worst storm of all. The waves came up to the bridge. The boat rocked from one side to another.

About eleven o'clock, being unable to sleep, the radio engineer decided to have a little party in the radio room. We all gathered there to listen to the radio and to sing carols. The first mate set the coffee pot on the radio table. When it started to percolate I got up and sat right beside it. Suddenly a huge wave rocked the ship and caused the pot to spill all over my lap, burning my legs and causing a great commotion.

This was my first Christmas on board a ship.

—Estrella Florente, grade 6

A Trip to Ship Island

When we were living in Hattiesburg, Mississippi, we took a trip to Ship Island. We went by car to Gulfport, a distance of seventy five miles, and then by boat to Ship Island. It took a very long time to get there because the boat was so small and slow.

When we arrived we visited the fort. This is where the Confederates took and kept their prisoners during the Civil War. Because it was an island they thought no one could reach it. The fort is circular in shape. There are many dungeons which have no windows of any kind. There are still some old cannons and cannon balls left.

When the boat was ready we left. The trip was lots of fun.

Virginia Wheeler to Wed

Announcement was made this week by Mr. and Mrs. Willard W. Wheeler of Pebble Beach of the betrothal of their daughter, Miss Virginia Wheeler, to Captain John W. Streeton, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Streeton of Los Angeles.

Miss Wheeler is a former student at Douglas School and following her graduation from Palo Alto high school attended Scripps College for two years before transferring to the University of California, where she was a member of Delta Gamma sorority, receiving her degree in 1940. For the past year she has served as a secretary at the Del Monte, Pre-Flight school. Her sister, Miss Betty Wheeler, is at present in the ranks of the Peninsula's busy Nurses' Aides, while a brother, Willard W. Wheeler, Jr., is a cadet midshipman in the Merchant Marine.

Captain Streeton graduated in 1938 from the University of California, Los Angeles, where he was affiliated with Phi Kappa Sigma fraternity. Enlisting in the infantry, he was for a time stationed at Fort Ord, then served for a year and a half in the South Pacific, rising to the rank of lieutenant before becoming a ground officer in the Air Corps overseas. As a captain in this branch of the service he returned to the United States, completing his training as a bomber pilot in New Mexico and more recently in Salt Lake City, where he has been flying B-17's. His latest orders will send him to a southern field, and wedding plans are awaiting this transfer.

Morton T. M. S. Officer

Don Morton of Carmel has been named secretary-treasurer of Theta Mu Sigma, newly organized social fraternity at San Jose State College. Morton is one of the original ten organizers of the group. Qualifications for membership in the new fraternity will include scholastic excellence and prominence in sports and other extracurricular activities. Organized last quarter, the group recently received formal recognition by the school student council.

Lt. Sapero Here

Lieutenant and Mrs. Kal Sapero spent the past weekend in Carmel, on leave from his present station at Oxnard, where he is attached to the 474th Fighter Group, Flight Strip. Lt. Sapero left his law practice on the Peninsula, where he served for several years as assistant district attorney, to join the service and was attached to the Salinas Air Base shortly after its establishment. He was selected while there to attend officer's candidate school and received his commission in Miami, Florida. Before being transferred to Oxnard he was stationed for a time at Van Nuys, California.

Steiner Group Forming

A group is now in the process of forming under the leadership of Mrs. Smith Midkiff of Casanova and Ninth streets to read the fundamental books in world conception by Rudolf Steiner. Those interested in joining should get in touch with Mrs. Midkiff.

Off for Hollywood

Dan Tothoroh will be leaving for Hollywood on January 29, the finished script of his new book, Singing City, under his arm, ready to begin work immediately on a film version of this story of San Francisco. It is to be released through United Artists by the new producing firm of Loew and Lyons, their first cinema venture.

Larry Grenier Here

Larry Grenier came up from Los Angeles last week, called to the Peninsula by the death of his mother, a resident of Pacific Grove, and spent the weekend in Carmel, renewing acquaintances with fellow members of the old Drunkard cast, which began its career on the stage of what is now the Pine Cone-Cymbal print shop, and in which he has acted continuously ever since. Mr. and Mrs. Larry Grenier and their small daughter Mollie have been for some time adapting themselves to a wartime schedule, under which Larry works by day in an airplane factory and by night carries his role at the theatre. When he returned to Los Angeles on Tuesday he was accompanied by Mrs. Ruth Marion McElroy, also of the original Drunkard cast, who plans to spend a two-week holiday in the south.

Mrs. Morgan Returns

Mrs. Charlotte Morgan has just returned to her studio, Surf Echoes, after a five weeks' trip. She spent a month at her brother's home on the Lakeville highway in Sonoma county and the rest of the time in San Francisco, with a college friend. While there she heard the San Francisco Symphony in the Opera House and visited the De Young Art gallery in the park, where she had a thrill over the wonderful technique and vitality of the Boris Chaliapin pictures on exhibit. She also visited the park's Victory Gardens, with spring greenery pushing up in long lines through the cold ground.

Back to Pebble Beach

Mrs. Willard W. Wheeler is back in her Pebble Beach home this week after visiting in the East for the past two and a half months.

St. Anne's Guild Meets

The semi-annual meeting of St. Anne's Altar Guild of All Saints' Church was held on Tuesday afternoon, Mrs. C. F. H. Jarvis and Mrs. C. J. Hulsewe serving as co-hostesses at the tea table. Present were Mrs. R. R. Wallace, Miss Flora Stewart, Mrs. W. E. Pulliam, Mrs. S. E. Coleman, Mrs. T. B. Taylor, Miss Helen Norman, Mrs. H. C. Wood and the Rector, Rev. C. J. Hulsewe.

All Saint's Parish Meeting

Following last Sunday's morning service at All Saints' Church the regular annual Parish meeting was held in the Parish House. A luncheon, in charge of Mrs. W. E. Pulliam and Mrs. E. H. Ewig, was served to the 79 parishioners attending, after which elections to the Vestry took place. Senior Warden for the ensuing year is Col. W. E. Pulliam; Alfred Wheldon, Junior Warden; Paul C. Prince, Treasurer; E. H. Ewig, Secretary. Other vestrymen are Peter Mawdsley, Walter Nielsen and Col. Raymond Pratt. The entire group will be delegates to the Diocesan Convention to be held at Grace Cathedral, San Francisco, Feb. 1 and 2. For the first time in the history of the Diocese of California one woman from each parish may be elected as a regular delegate, and to Mrs. C. Fitz-Howard Jarvis was accorded this honor.

Representing the Woman's Auxiliary at the Convention will be Mrs. Vera Peck Millis, Mrs. S. E. Coleman, Mrs. L. O. Fisher, Mrs. C. J. Hulsewe, Miss K. Van Horn, with Mrs. R. R. Wallace, Miss F. Stewart, Mrs. L. A. Quinn, Mrs. G. W. Jordan and Mrs. H. G. Schull as alternates.

During the business meeting, reports covering the activities of the various church organizations were heard, chief among them the treasurer's report that when the next payment is made in February on the $15,000 "White Cedars" property, an indebtedness of only $5,000 will remain. The tentative designs made by Mr. Arnold Constable, well-known church architect, for the proposed new church building were viewed for the first time, with great enthusiasm.

Mrs. Grant Reviews

The Carmel Woman's club book section met on Monday, January 17, their program a review of Upton Close's Behind the Face of Japan, given by Mrs. Margaret Grant. She presented the book as a profound study of an alien race arrived at only by many years' observation of the Japanese. She found the analogy drawn by its author between the development of the British Isles and Japan of peculiar interest both geographically and in the growth of their mutual understanding. Tea was served by a committee under the leadership of Miss Helen Baldwin and including Mrs. J. C. Coldren and Mrs. Mabel Herrick.

Kenneth Omar, Corporal

Corporal Kenneth Omar, Carmel Highlands Marine, recently was promoted from Private First Class at the Marine Corps rifle range, Camp Matthews, San Diego, where he is an instructor. Before he joined the Marines, he served as airplane observer at Yankee Point.

Brother Affixes Wings

Captain Markham Johnston, Jr., flew up from Dallas, Texas on January 7, in order to be present at the graduation of his brother, Warren Johnston, from flight training at Fort Sumner, New Mexico, and took part in the ceremonies by pinning the wings on the young second lieutenant. Captain Lester Asbury, now an instructor at Fort Sumner, presented his own wings to the newly commissioned officer, so now Mrs. Markham Johnston is proudly wearing the original insignia of both aviator sons.

Chief on Vacation

Chief Roy Frates of the Carmel Police Department began the enjoyment of his annual two weeks' holiday on Monday. Officer Frank Hay took over his duties during his absence.

100 Attend Opening

Over 100 enthusiastic bookworms gathered for Saturday afternoon's opening reception at the Wishing Wells' rental library in the Seven Arts building on Lincoln street, where Mrs. Joseph L. Wells, assisted by Mrs. C. Halsted Yates, greeted her guests before a cozily burning fire and amid attractive, homelike furnishings. The door prize, permitting a choice of any book on the shelves, was won by Mrs. Katherine French of Monterey. John Patric, author of the current best seller, Why Japan Was Strong, arrived in Carmel too late to be on hand for the reception, but met a large number of his readers on Sunday, when he autographed copies of his book for them at the Wishing Wells.

Honoring M. De Neal Morgan

One of the largest and most representative gatherings to attend an opening reception at the Carmel Art Gallery turned out on Sunday to honor Miss M. De Neale Morgan, whose work is now on exhibit in the George F. Beardsley Memorial room. Attractively attired in a green afternoon gown, to which Mrs. Frances McComas pinned an orchid in tribute, Miss Morgan received her guests, bearing in her arms a bouquet of spring flowers gathered by Ferdinand Burgdorff from his studio garden and presented in his behalf by his sister. She was assisted in receiving by her sister, Mrs. Jeanie Klenke, her cousin, Mrs. John Arthur Elston, Mrs. John Read (Kate Carewe), Miss Evelyn McCormick, Mrs. Lillian Bollinger Hardy, Miss Josephine Blanche, former curator of the Del Monte Art Gallery and Miss Micaela Martinez. The tasteful floral arrangements were the work of Mrs. Klenke, who used masses of yellow giant cineraria, with their large velvet leaves, the blue blossoms of the hardenburgeria and fluffy purple veronica to adorn the table where Mr. Ernest Calley and his son, Douglas presided over the bowl of fruit punch. Mrs. Elizabeth Cass and her committee, including Miss Beth Ingels, Miss Hope Hasty, Miss Peg Carroll and Mesdames Virginia Mikulak, Katie Martin, Bernardine Duckworth, Kay Rodgers, Grace Eagan and Ruth Warshawsky assisted in the serving of open faced sandwiches and home-made cookies. Present for the occasion was Mr. Myron Oliver, president of the Carmel Art association and Mrs. Oliver. The distinctive hanging of the show was the work of Mr. Oliver and his assistants, Mr. Abel Warshawsky and Mr. Clifton Williams.

To Randolph Field

Flight Officer Myron Oliver, Jr., who graduated on January 7 at Luke Field, Arizona, left on Sunday for his new post as instructor at Randolph Field, Texas, after spending a ten-day leave on the Peninsula with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Myron Oliver. Home on a three-day pass from his duties in the ground crew of the Air Corps at Hamilton Field, Fresno, was also his brother, Pfc. Ramon Oliver.

Knapp-Dawson Wedding

Miss Mary Lou Dawson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Dawson of the Monterey Peninsula Country Club, was married to Second Lieutenant G. Warren Knapp of the Army Air Corps, at a ceremony performed by Rev. Theodore Bell on Thursday, January 13, in St. John's Chapel, Del Monte.

The bride, attended by Mrs. Edgar Leslie, the former Miss Betty Bucklen, as matron of honor, wore a suit of brown with matching accessories and white orchids, and was given in marriage by her father. Second Lieutenant Robert Farley was best man. Present at the quiet ceremony and the reception which followed at the home of the bride, were just the members of the two families.

Lt. and Mrs. Knapp departed immediately after the reception for Sebring, Florida, where for the next thirty days Lt. Knapp will serve as maintenance officer. The son of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Knapp of Monte Verde and Ninth street, he graduated on January 6th from the Army Air Forces Training Command School at Yale University, where he was fitted to become a technical officer in Aircraft Maintenance Engineering.

The new Mrs. Knapp is a graduate of Monterey high school and attended Salinas Junior College for a year before transferring to Meryhurst College in Oregon, where she has been a student during the current term.

For the Bride

Last Thursday evening the Sunset school faculty gathered at the home of Mrs. Ann Uzzell for a baked fish dinner. Honored guest for the occasion was Mrs. Gale Neel (nee Gale Marhofke) newest bride in faculty circles. After dinner Mrs. Neel was presented with a linen table set and the best wishes of her friends.

Rummage Sale

The Carmel Mission Altar Society and the Carmel Mission Mothers' club will hold a rummage sale on January 27, 29 and 29, in the Ocean avenue store formerly occupied by the 5 and 10 cent store. Arrangements are in charge of Mrs. Kay Brownell and Mrs. Gertrude Stoney.

Brig. Gen. Boyd a Visitor

Brigadier General L. R. Boyd, accompanied by Mr. Boyd and their daughter, Mary Ann, paused recently enroute to San Francisco for a few hours' visit with his sister, Mrs. Bessie Boyd Fraser in her new home at the Highlands, which she has rechristened Twelve Acres. Mrs. Fraser expects to be joined in the middle of February by her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Dazzo, the former Miss Mavis Miller, at present in Los Angeles, where Mr. Dazzo is engaged in government work.

Ensign Wood Promoted

Ensign Barbara Wood, U. S. Navy, formerly of the Harrison Memorial Library staff, and now stationed in Washington, D. C., has recently been promoted to the rank of Lieutenant (j.g.) Visiting Lt. Wood in Washington over Christmas Day was Miss Dorothy Stephenson of Carmel, now a reporter on the New York Times.

Capt. Morse to S. F.

Captain Samuel F. B. Morse, Jr., and Mrs. Morse, who have been visiting with his parents at Pebble Beach, have now returned to San Francisco, where Capt. Morse reported for his new duties in the Army Transportation Corps at the Port of Embarkation, following 15 months' service overseas.

Marian Little Weds

Miss Marian Little, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie G. Little of San Luis avenue, Carmel Woods, became the bride of Captain Charles Eugene Hersche, U. S. Air Corps, in a ceremony performed by Dr. J. E. Crowther at the Church of the Wayfarer on Sunday, January 16 at 2:30 p.m.

The petite bride was attired in a gown of white brocaded taffeta designed with long bodice and bouffant skirt and wore a fingertip veil of tulle held in place upon her brown hair with a circlet of seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of orchids and gardenias. Her bridesmaid, Miss Hazel Hamilton of Stockton, wore a gown of sheer mauve pink marquisette and carried a frilled bouquet of mixed blossoms. Best man for the groom was Lt. Colonel Richard Gates Williams.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and present for both the ceremony and the open house which was hosted by her mother at the Little home, where the three-tiered cake was cut with Lt. Col. Williams' sword, were scores of the bride's friends from Stockton and the following members of her family: her grandmother, Mrs.

Birdie Learned and her uncle, Mr. Charles Learned, who have moved to Carmel recently from Stockton; Mrs. Little's aunts, Mrs. Elsie Williams and Mrs. Grace Brown, both of Stockton; Mr. Little's aunt, Miss Blanche Means and uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Reid, all of Merced; and the bride's sister-in-law, Mrs. Robert Little of Richmond.

The new Mrs. Hersche is a native of Stockton, where her family has been well-known for three generations and where her father

HIGH SCHOOL NEWS

"Senior Election"

After a rather boisterous and noisy meeting last Tuesday the Senior Class managed to elect officers. Del Wilson, president; John Graham, secretary; Bob Holmes, vice-president. —Walter Warren

Sophomore's Hop

"Hop on your pogo stick and come to the Sophomore Hop" signs have been plastered all over school bearing this invitation. The entertainment committee headed by Himie Cox and Barbara Timmins has procured an orchestra.

Refreshments will be sold for a small sum and the decoration committee under the supervision of Carol Walker is dressing up the cafeteria where the Hop is being held. —Ann Hodgson

"Under Classmen Triumph"

Freshmen 27, Sophomores 16. This was the final score in one of the really unpredictable games in the volleyball tournament. The Sophomores were either too overconfident, or else they just weren't on the beam. Nevertheless the Frosh took command early in the stanzas.

Sue Dekker, Molly Osgood and Gwen Klechener played an excellent game for the Frosh outfit. The less said about the trio would satisfy the Sophs.

Dorothy Goulart added to the tenth graders' short score with some excellent serving. —Ann Casati

"Taxidermy in Biology"

Some of Miss Sener's biology students have become interested in taxidermy. Dr. Earl Hamlet Myers, who works at the Hopkins Marine Station, has offered to teach these students and Miss Sener the difficult art of taxidermy.

Gail Frates, Howard Lockwood, Beva Pilling, Ann Sterling, Sue Walters, Joan Leary, Eric Leffingwell, Peggy Heebner, and Lois Petty started these lessons last Thursday the 13th, over at Pacific Grove high school. During that lesson and the one Saturday they learned how to kill, skin, and stuff birds. The birds they worked with are pigeons, hawks, flicker, crows and blackbirds. Miss Sener hopes to teach taxidermy to those interested after school, but right now she is learning right along with the students of her biology class. —Ann Pierce

No. 7974

In the Matter of the Guardianship of the Person and Estate of VIVIAN J. OHM, a minor.

NOTICE OF GUARDIAN'S SALE OF REAL PROPERTY AT PRIVATE SALE

Notice is hereby given, that Rudolph F. Ohm, guardian of the person and estate of Vivian J. Ohm, a minor, will sell, on or after Monday, the 31st day of January, 1944, at the law office of George P. Ross, Room 3, Las Tiendas Building, Carmel, in the County of Monterey, State of California, at the hour of two o'clock P. M. of said day, or after said day, to the highest and best bidder, and upon the terms and conditions hereinafter mentioned, at private sale, subject to confirmation. (Continued on page 11)

This successful prescription is now put up under the name of ADLERIKA. Get a bottle of Adlerika next time you stop at your druggist's and see for yourself how quickly gas is relieved and gentle but thorough bowel action follows. Good for old and young. Get Adlerika from your druggist today.

held in the classes last Friday for the officers of president, vice-president and secretary. Candidates for president were Russell Bohlke and Jim Greenan, for vice-president, Arnold Pilling, Louis Levinson, Howard Lockwood, Roy Parsons and Miton Thompson, and for secretary, Jo An Thorn, Alice Williamson, and Betty Powell.

The returns were: Russell Bohlke, president; Howard Lockwood, vice-president. There will have to be another election for secretary between Betty Powell and Alice Williamson as these two candidates tied for first place. —Stanley Ewig

"Paper Drive"

The Junior Red Cross paper drive closed this week. Arnold Pilling, assisted by a few boys and a number of girls, has done a significant piece of war work, and made a real contribution to the war effort in this paper collection.

Arnold Pilling should really have orchids for his accomplishment as well as Carmel High for helping, which was really something when one takes the lack of transportation into consideration. Now we must wait until the tonnage of paper we have gathered is ascertained. Then we will know whether the committee accepts an invitation to dinner or gives one. —B. L. Fonteneau

"Artistic Mud Pies"

The new pins, ear rings, and other gadgets you have been seeing around school lately have been found to originate from Carmel High's art class. The class is working in clay. Everything from earrings to small statues is being turned out by the talented hands of the art students. Plastecine is also being pulled into various shapes. Already most of the students have finished their modeling work and are looking forward to their next project. —Diana Danniells

"New Officer for Leaders Club"

On January 18, 1944 the Leaders Club elected new officers. Carla La Pori was elected president and took over the meeting to finish the nominations. Betty Powell is the new vice-president. Joan Janda was elected to the secretary's position and Elizabeth Williamson is the historian.

With these new officers in charge the organization will continue with corridor control, in which they are doing a grand job; but they will have other activities also. —Ann Casati

Athletic Report

The Carmel Lightweights cleaned up on the King City "Ponies" last Saturday night for their first victory of the season. (They lost previously to Monterey). It was really a well played game. Art Templeton was high point man, and in spite of the "Ponies" hard fighting they couldn't over score the lead that the Carmel Lightweights had on them. The final score was Carmel 21, King City 14.

The Heavyweight story, per usual, is a sad one. The game was not too fast and the King City Mustangs were in the lead the majority of the time. This may have been due to the absence of Bob Kolf, Jim Greenan and Milt Thompson, three of our best players. Kolf has left us, Greenan had a bad foot and Thompson had the flu. The game ended with the Padres trailing to the score of 16 to 22. —Emile Passailaigue

(Continued from page 6) form. The visitor to the gallery can decide for himself which of the productions maintains an all over pattern when viewed from a distance so that no section of the composition seems of less importance than any other in giving the effect of the whole. Of course there are many more elements that go to make up a successful composition than good spacial design. Vibrant color, dramatic light and dark pattern, interpretative verve in subject matter and many other appealing qualities all work together to give the observer pleasure. Many will enjoy vigorous color harmonies of the Warshawskys, two landscapes and a portrait. Many visitors have remarked the light effects in the seascapes of Frank Myers, Jaffrey Harris and George Koch. Clifton William's extraordinarily vivid rendering of detail again suggests the surrealists' methods of achieving a hyper-realism. The Martin Baer introspective self portrait is challenging in subject matter as well as being a rare example of a painter's virtuosity.

The other exhibitors are Lee Randolph, Josephine Blanche, Olive Chapin, Micaela Martinez, William P. Silva, E. M. Heath, M. De Neale Morgan, Ferdinand Burgdorff, M. F. Hall, Howard Smith, Lee Tevis, Thomas A. McGlynn, C. B. Seymour, Wilma Aldrich, Claude Kinnoull and Jules Flobert.

"Top Hat" Revival, Set for Playhouse

The sabbatical revival of Irving Berlin's sparkling dancing musical, "Top Hat," is good news at the Playhouse. Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers are the twinkling stars, with a host of well known funmakers in support, headed by Edward Everett Horton and Eric Blore. The film will play three nights, starting tonight, with a two thirty matinee tomorrow.

After Monday's "dark" interval, the Playhouse will offer for three nights, beginning Tuesday, "A Gentleman at Heart," starring Cesar Romero. Critics who deplore the lack of originality in screen stories will have nothing to complain of here. It is a refreshingly unique and highly humorous approach to the gangster theme, without gun battles and with a minimum of any sort of physical violence. The principal source of the fun is the endeavor of some conniving crooks to turn the "art business" into a racket. A competent cast makes the most of one of the brightest of scripts.

Belgian Cellist Versatile Leader Of Britt Trio

Carmel music-lovers who enjoyed themselves so thoroughly at the Draper-Adler and Brailowsky recitals are now looking forward to another sort of musical offering by the Carmel Music Society. This is the concert on February 6th by the Britt String and Piano Trio. Its founder and leader is the well-known cellist Horace Britt. Of Belgian birth and parentage, he was brought up in Paris, and educated at the famous Paris National Conservatory, which he entered at the age of eleven, having begun the cello at the age of seven. At fourteen he won first prize there for cello playing.

Horace Britt has concertized all over Europe in the United States, Canada and Latin-America, as conductor, soloist or chamber-music player. Now an American citizen, he is known as one of the most versatile musicians in the country. Besides his activities in music, he is interested in science and in sports. As a personality he is well fitted to head the organization that will present to Carmel music-lovers works by the great masters that are written for unusual combinations of stringed instruments, and therefore not so often heard.

The Britt Trio consists of a

Before the discussion Mrs. Blanchard Steeves, legislative chairman, outlined the measures before Congress in which the A.A.U.W. is especially interested, suggesting that members might write to their Representatives with reference to those the association's national board has approved. The president, Miss Frances Whitehead, conducted the meeting.

"Watch on Rhine" Has Great Cast, Great Director

"Watch on the Rhine," Warner Bros.' new film based upon Lillian Hellman's famous play of the same name, comes to the Carmel Theatre for three days, Sunday, Monday and Tuesday. Directed by Herman Shumlin, who both produced and directed the successful Broadway production, the picture tells of the selfless heroism of human beings in their fight against the forces of evil.

Starred in the film are Bette Davis, one of Hollywood's foremost dramatic actresses, and Paul Lukas, who scored in the Broadway hit which ran for over a year. A talented supporting cast features Geraldine Fitzgerald, Lucile Watson, Beulah Bondi and George Coulouris.

Pine Needles

was a cabinet maker for the city schools for many years prior to the recent establishment of a home in Carmel. She graduated in June, 1942, from the junior College of the Pacific, where she was affiliated with Delta Epsilon sorority and served for a year as an I.B.M. machine tabulator at the Army Ordnance Depot in Stockton. Since last July she has been a secretary in the Intelligence office at Fort Ord. Mrs. Hersche is the sister of Ensign Norman E. Little, U.S.N.R., who graduates next week from Air Corps training at Corpus Christi; of Cadet Robert L. Little, now in training at the Tulare Army Air Base; of Steven M. Little, U.S.N.R., a V-12 student at Oklahoma University; and George Little, now attending Carmel high school.

Captain Hersche, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert E. Hersche Overland Park, Kansas, attended Kansas University and graduated in 1941 from the Stockton Air Field. He is now serving as an instrument flying instructor at Kirtland Field, Albuquerque, N. M., where the newly wedded couple arrived to make their home on Thursday following a brief honeymoon divided between Del Monte Lodge and Los Angeles.

To Missouri

Lt. Colonel and Mrs. Richard Gates Williams, the former Miss Bessie Waltz, who with her mother, Mrs. Lillian Waltz and her sister Helen, made their home in Carmel before moving to Salinas, will leave shortly for Missouri for a visit with his family. Lt. Col. Williams has just returned from Alaska and has been spending a few days in Salinas with the Waltz family.

Garden Section to Meet

The Garden Section of the Carmel Woman's club will meet at 2 o'clock, Friday, January 21, at the home of Mrs. D. E. Nixon on Ninth and Dolores streets. Colored slides of Small California Gardens will be presented by Mrs. William O'Donnell, together with a talk in which attention will be called to special features in each garden, producing its own peculiar charm.

No meeting will be held of the Woman's club on Monday, January 31.

Choir Entertained

Rev. and Mrs. C. J. Hulsewe were hosts on Thursday evening at a supper party for the senior members of All Saints' Church Choir. Their guests including Corporal and Mrs. T. L. Hargret, Mr. Eben Whittlesey, Miss Alice Lee Keith, Mrs. Sue Cecil, Mr. Chester Storr, the Misses Hope Hasty, Mary Austin and Mrs. John McConnell. The boys' group of the Choir was entertained by Rev. Hulsewe at a theatre party. Those participating were Robert Brown, Richard Templeman, Sargent Edwards, Dan Holmes, Peter Lyon, Bruce Keller, Jon Stark, Bill Fowler, John Haussermann, III, Kendall Kirtley, Fritz Westerhaut, Garry Shaw and Bobby Cecil.

Wedding Date Set

The wedding of Miss Micaela Martinez and Cadet Ralph Du Casse, now a student at Regis College, Denver, in the Special Army Training Program, will take place on Tuesday, February 1, at Carmel Mission, with further details of the nuptial mass to be announced later.

Mrs. Millis Returns

Mrs. Vera Peck Millis returned on Monday from a visit with her brother in Los Angeles, in time to help celebrate the birthday of her sister, Miss Glenna Peck.

Mrs. Goodfellow to N. Y.

Mrs. Katherine Goodfellow of Pebble Beach leaves on Saturday for New York where she will spend several weeks with her daughter, Miss Kitty Goodfellow, now taking her final examinations before departing on overseas duty with the Red Cross.

Pot-Luck at Fire House

The first pot-luck dinner of the year, a monthly program of the members of the Carmel Fire Department and their wives, was held on Friday evening, January 14, at the Fire House. Twenty-two assembled for the dinner and the post-prandial entertainment of pinocle and a highly successful new game called po-keno. Serving on the social committee for the affair were Mrs. Nellie Warren and Mrs. Rosalie Machado.

Joins Shand Staff

Mrs. Fred W. Goss, who with her husband has been a resident of Carmel for the past ten years and has recently been serving in the Quartermaster's department at the Presidio of Monterey, is now a member of the Arthur T. Shand staff in their offices on Ocean avenue.

Joint Missionary Meeting

The Carmel Missionary Society, combining parishioners from both the Church of the Wayfarer and All Saints' Church, will meet under the auspices of the Woman's Auxiliary of All Saints' in the Parish House at 2:30 p.m. on Tuesday, January 25. The speaker will be Rev. Vincent Coletta of St. James Church, Monterey, who will talk of his new work with the Italian fishermen and the Army and Navy groups in Monterey.

For the New Mrs. Neel

Mrs. J. W. Getsinger was hostess on Monday evening at her home on Casanova and Ocean for a gathering of Carmel high school faculty women, around two score in number, the guest of honor Carmel high school's newest birde, Mrs. Jesse F. Neel, the former Miss Gale Marhofke, whose marriage to Ensign Neel of the U. S. Marine Corps took place in Oakland on December 26. The new Mrs. Neel was the recipient on this occasion of a wedding gift from her fellow teachers. High point of the evening's entertainment was a mock marriage at which Miss Harriet Sheldon officiated as the minister, Miss Mary McNamara as the bride and Miss Evelyn Eaton the groom.

Visits Sister

Mrs. Barbara Klotz, formerly of Carmel, but now making her home in San Francisco, spent the past weekend here visiting with her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Linden Farnsworth. Mr. Farnsworth, a representative of the Eastman Kodak company, in China at the outbreak of war, returned recently on the Gripsholm after two years of internment. He and Mrs. Farnsworth expect to leave Carmel at the end of the month and live in San Francisco.

Only Four More "Bertha" Shows

"Bertha, the Sewing Machine Girl," has but five performances left at the First Theater, Monterey, showing tomorrow evening, and on January 29, and February 5th and 12th only. Sunday evenings and week days are given over to rehearsals of the new show, "Steve's Pal," which will open the week-end of February 18, Beverly Wright directing.

The coming production of the Troupers of the Gold Coast, "Steve's Pal," which Miss Wright is now rehearsing, will have its entire cast by next week.
